The Carolina will not race to-morrow for the cups offered by the Newport Yacht Racing Association, although all the other fifties have sent in their enties. Six of the forties and at least five of the thirty-footers are scheduled to start in these races.

It was announced to-night that after to-morrow's races Commodore Morgan's Grayling will go out of commission for the season, although the rest of her class will continue to participate in Sound regattas throughout August and september. The summary:

game a race as has been witnessed this season, W. R. Coe's Sportiboy, with F. Wilson in the saddle, captured the feature of the card here this afternoon, defeating John Sanford's Killala by the shortest of heads. The Quincy the shortest of heads. The Quincy Stable's Copper Demon, the heavily backed favorite, took the short end of the purse. Harry Payne Whitney's Wellfinder finished fourth and Mrs W. M. Jefforde's Two Feetbern.

M. Jeffords's Two Feathers a poor last. The five starters left the gate in good order, with Killala first to show in front. Wellfinder was a close second and Copper Demon third, a few lengths back. Sportiboy could not seem to get into his stride and trailed the bunch. They ran in this order to the head of the stretch, where Sportiboy began to improve his position.

Coming around the field, Wilson brought the colt within striking distance of the second horse, but it looked like a hopeless chase for him to catch Killala. Passing the eighth pole Wilson was riding desperately, and the Sportiboy's determined rush was not to be denied, and he got his nose in front just as they passed over the line. Copper Demon was a length and a half back of Killala, Wellfinder was half a length behind Copper Demon, while Two Feathers trailed home ten lengths in the rear.

The weather and the fact that Carolina's new Hermudian rig has made her considerably faster than any of the other fifty-footers in her class served to keep Istalena, Spartan, Virginia and Acushla, all entries for the King's cup race, at their moorings to-day.

The leg G'Mutton, Marconi or Ber madian rig, whichever one chooses to call Carolina's present sail plan, has made her so fleet on the wind that she has completely outclassed her fifty-footer rivals and was expected to-day to give Commodore Vanderbilt's Vagrant a tussel on a straight boat-for-boat basis.

Wellinder was main a Copper Demon, while Two Feathers trailed home ten lengths in the rear.

The course selected for the King's cup race was supposed to give the boats a windward beat, a reach and a run, but what little wind there was showed the marks of the firing iron and he is apt to show improvement the next time he starts. Sande laid off the early pace with him, but the glding was not there when let down. Careful, running in her real form, set a killing pace, with Naturalist rights there head all the way. Buddy Insort, who rode Careful, got away with a neat bit of jockeyship in the last fifty yards. Careful was on the inside, and as Naturalist was coming up on her right, Ensor kept waving in whip apparently to keep his own mount going, but at the same time the way by the same time the way was swung up and down in front of Naturalist. While this had no bearing on the result, it did not help the did and he won as he pleased by right lengths. Surf was second, fifteen the first lengths for Robert Oliver. Pat Brady sent him to the front on the last turn of the field and he won as he pleased by right lengths. Surf was second, fifteen lengths before New Haven.

City. This event is the challenge round in this famous international competition.

Two singles matches take place Friday, September 2, the doubles on Saturday and the final singles matches on Monday. September 5, which is Labor Day. Series tickets good for a reserved seat during the week cost $8.25, including tax. No single-day tickets are sold in advance, and these can be had at the grounds on day of play only.

The development in singles brought out by Monday's play has practically blasted the hopes of Big Willis Davis of gaining a place on the Davis Cup team this year. The Californian's straight set defeat by Lawrence Rice, following his humbling by Niles at Longwood last week, has been a severe blow to Davis, and only a sensational series of victories at Seabright, South-hampton and Longwood can pull him up from the ruck.

Johnson May Box Brennan
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2.—Jac. Johnson, who is here, said to-day that he expects to fight Bill Brennan in September. "This match with Brennan is still hanging fire," said the former heavy-weight champion, "but I do not anticipate any insurmountable obstacles."

Amateur Bouts Saturday The Metropolitan Association of the A. A. U. will conduct an amateur boxing tournament at Ocean Beach, Fire Island, next Fridey, for the entertainment of the disabled soldiers, who are convelescing at this place. Four classes will be contested, making a total of twelve three-round bouts.

spite a heavy rain throughout the day, some wonderful golf was played the turn on even terms. Coming back, Mrs. Jackson, who had been erratic from the tee and with her irons, settled down to her usually steady game and gradually drew away to a comfortable lead.

Winner Starts Poorly

Winner Starts Poorly

The former national title holder started poorly, taking a 7 on the third hole, where her second shot caromed off a house abutting the fairway, and her third caught a trap. Mrs. Smith, playing along the line of least resistance, got a good 5 for a win. She became 2 up at the third, where Mrs. Jackson hooked to the rough on her second and took a 6 for the hole.

The next four holes were halved, and then Mrs. Jackson got a beautiful 4 at the eighth for a win. The followed this with another well played hole, Mrs. Smith being short on her approach, and squared the match.

Coming back, Mrs. Jackson began to play the kind of golf of which she is capable. It was Mrs. Smith who got into trouble on the first hole of this half, she being in a trap on her second shot. Mrs. Jackson increased her lead at the eleventh, where she knocked out a wonderful par 5 which gove her a lead of 3 up. Mrs. Smith had considerable difficulty getting to the long thirteenth, and Mrs. Jackson, down in 6, won this hole also.

At the fourteenth Mrs. Jackson played perfect golf up to the pin and barely missed a bird 3. Mrs. Smith played the fifteenth nicely to get a par 3, but the next two holes were also off in her putting and weak on her apar 3, but the next two holes were
